No. 2.

July 28
Mrs. E. B. Eaton
2213 W. 56th St.

'Twas on that dark, that doleful night,
When powers of earth and hell arose
Against the Son of God's delight,
And friends betrayed Him to His foes.

Before the mournful scene began,
He took the bread, and blessed, and brake;
What love through all His actions ran!
What wondrous words of grace He spake!

"This is my body, broke for sin;
Receive and eat the living food":
Then took the cup and blessed the wine;
" 'Tis the new covenant in my blood."

"Do this," He said, "till time shall end,
In memory of your dying Friend,
Meet at my table and record
The love of your departed Lord."

The Last Supper

In looking over our statistics for 1927 we find that the deaf do not attend Holy Communion with desired frequency. The Christian Church has administered the Sacrament of the Altar ever since the days of the apostles. To this day true Christians regard Holy Communion as one of their most precious and blessed treasures. Our deaf, too, should come to the Lord's Table frequently. To partake of the Lord's Supper once or twice a year is not sufficient. Some believe that they do not need this divine encouragement in their faith and Christian life; when their pastors admonish them in this matter they offer all manner of excuses. Such neglect of God's means of grace is displeasing to the Savior and usually ends in total loss of spiritual life.

Our Lord and Master has instituted Holy Communion in love for us for the purpose of strengthening our faith. Satan, the ungodly world, and our own evil flesh continually tempt us to disregard God's means of grace; they lead our souls away from God and make us impatient in the sorrows and trials of life. Jesus instituted Holy Communion for the very purpose of strengthening and upholding our faith, to enable us to battle successfully these enemies of our souls.

Through Holy Communion and His Word Jesus desires to save us from the curse and bondage of sin. He suffered for the sins of mankind, and now through His means of grace there is offered and proclaimed a present, complete, and everlasting pardon to all who consent to be and remain His people. He makes no distinction in reference to the number or magnitude of our sins. His is a perfect for-givenness covering every sin and delivering from all condemnation.

Our deaf, too, have learned that sin is not a mere trifle, but something hideous which separates them from God, their only source of true happiness in time and eternity. Sin is the greatest calamity which has ever befallen mankind, therefore, the deaf, too, should use these means of grace, Holy Communion and God's Word diligently and prayerfully, so that they may escape the wrath of God.

Dr. Martin Luther says: "May God give all Christians such a heart that when they hear the Word, Sacrament or Lord's Supper, they exult for abounding joy, yea, after the manner of true spiritual joy shed sweet tears; for I love it with heart and soul, this sweet and blessed Supper of my Lord Jesus Christ, wherein He gives me also into my bodily mouth, bodily to eat and to drink His body and blood, with such exceedingly sweet and loving words: Given for you, shed for you."

May our deaf learn to treasure these means of grace as Dr. Luther valued and treasured them; may they accept without doubt or hesitation God's promises of mercy through them, and be saved with all His saints. O. C. S.

OUR 1927 STATISTICS

Although there is a steady increase and growth recorded in our biennial statistics, yet it is not phenomenal or even conspicuous. We now have approximately 1,103 communicant deaf members; each missionary serves an average of 70 communicants in addition to the visitors and members of Bible and confirmation classes; the latter usually exceed in number the actual membership.

Our missionaries have opportunities to address large gatherings of deaf at the State schools, but why has the mission among the deaf no multitudes of new members to record? It is not because the Word of God is less efficacious in the hearts of the deaf, but because the acquiring of religious knowledge is a slower process with them. As a rule each new member must be instructed separately and led into the Church singly; in our mission we do not have the children growing up into membership as we do in all other missions. The children of deaf usually are hearing and attend hearing churches. Furthermore the deaf population in a community is not very large, averaging only about one deaf person to fifteen hundred hearing people.

Should we become discouraged and abandon our work among the deaf because of this slow progress? Surely not! When our Lord and Savior healed the deaf-mute He gave us a glorious example of laborious effort and patient love and understanding in dealing with the handicapped. He took the deaf man aside and dealt with him separately. Surely in our advanced and enlightened age Jesus is pleased to see His Church deal in like manner with the handicapped. May we follow in the Master's steps in our preaching to the deaf, and may the deaf appreciate the great sacrifice and Christian love of their hearing brethren in supplying them with spiritual food for their immortal souls.

A CATECHISM FOR THE DEAF

Our missionaries to the deaf face a great variety of difficulties and obstacles in their duties of indoctrinating and preparing the deaf for confirmation and full church membership. Frequently deaf persons reside great distances from the home of the missionary; very often there exists a great difference in the mental capabilities and earlier education of the members in a class; home environments and opportunity for study must be taken into consideration. Usually each deaf person requires separate instruction because of peculiar conditions in his home or employment. At the State schools only, as a rule, do we find pupils of uniform intelligence. Every missionary after a few years of labor among the deaf finds that he is compelled to make his own outline for almost every class, yet certain requirements are essential to all cases. Our Minneapolis missionary, the Rev. J. L. Salvner, has prepared some Notes and Explanations of Luther's Catechism to be used for instructing the deaf, which some of us have found useful and practical. These have been published in their second edition and may be purchased from him.

We have also received a "Kinderbilder-bibel" in the English language published by Joh. Herrman Co., which may be secured from our Concordia Publishing House, St. Louis, Mo. The latter publication might also be used in the instruction of young deaf pupils at the State schools.

TRAITORS

Although deceitful and hypocritical people speak and act like friends toward their fellow-men their hearts are full of mischief and evil designs. False friends are like counterfeit money, which appears to be genuine, but has no actual value and causes much distress and worry; they are like a beautiful apple, which on the surface has the appearance of perfection, but under the surface is rotten to the core. The traitor Judas talked and acted like a friend toward the Master, but in his heart there was hypocrisy and treachery.

Hypocritical piety is double iniquity. In addition to the sin of deceit, it creates grievous offense both within and outside the Church of God. Manifest and declared enemies of God may have hearts full of gall, but they do not have honeyed tongues like these wolves in sheep's clothing. It is far better that the world know us as sinners, than that the Almighty know us as hypocrites and traitors.

O. C. S.

"WITH THE BEREANS"

"They (the Bereans) received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the scriptures (Bible) daily whether those things were so." Acts 17:11.

During the forty days before Easter sincere Christians throughout the world consider the suffering of their Savior Jesus. And every Christian should think especially of his own sins, remembering that also his sins made this terrible suffering and bitter death on the cross necessary.

The verses to be memorized (studied and remembered) in February tell us about sin.

LUTHERAN CHURCH PREACHES OLD BIBLE TRUTHS

World Conditions Change, But Not Age-Old Gospel

Humanity's progress during the last decades has been bewildering. Science has stepped out with a vengeance. Comes a man named Einstein and calmly discards even respectable laws of nature. Life for the husky pioneer of years ago was a peaceful idyl compared with the dizzy pace set by the modern generation. Values and ideas, laws and customs, all are changing. Civilization is dashing somewhere, but the goal is not in sight. We hurry along, but if honest must admit to more than slight confusion.

But though the world round about has changed, human nature remains the same. For material comfort your twentieth century man may require balloon tires and a radio, a vacuum cleaner and a thermos bottle; his spiritual needs differ in no whit from those of his remotest ancestor. He still needs a God who pardons and loves, a God whom he can love and call his Father. Baffled by life's mysteries and often buffeted by painful experiences he yearns for the assurance that his existence has a purpose and that somewhere there is peace.

An unchanging Gospel can meet this fundamental and unchanging need. It is the Gospel which Paul of Tarsus preached 1900 years ago and which, though but partially revealed, gave comfort to men for centuries before the coming of the Lord, the Gospel of a crucified Savior who died that men might live and be redeemed to their God.

That Gospel has gone out of style in many a church. It has not gone out of style in the Lutheran Church. That great church body is not ashamed to confess with Paul that it is "determined not to know anything, save Jesus Christ, and Him crucified." It takes the Bible in its entirety as the inspired Word of God. It preaches above all the wondrous grace of God whose love in Christ has restored a fallen race. Faith in that Redeemer saves, not all the good that men can do.

Old-fashioned? Yes, but the Lutheran Church continues to preach that age-old Gospel because it is convinced that despite all changes "there is salvation in none other."
